

FAHMI ZAINOL & ORS v. JAWATANKUASA TATATERTIB
PELAJAR, UNIVERSITI MALAYA & ORS

HIGH COURT MALAYA, SHAH ALAM
MOHD YAZID MUSTAFA J
[APPLICATION FOR JUDICIAL REVIEW: 25-17-05-2015]
21 APRIL 2017

ADMINISTRATIVE LAW: Judicial review – Grounds for – Offences under University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999 ('UM Rules') – Applicants found guilty and sentenced by disciplinary committee of University Malaya – Whether decision-making and sentencing of applicants in compliance with UM Rules – Whether procedure adopted tainted with procedural impropriety – Whether in breach of rules of natural justice

The first applicant planned an activity titled 'Pidato Umum, 40 Tahun dari Universiti Malaya ke Penjara' to be held at the Dataran DTC University Malaya on 27 October 2014. University Malaya ('the university') viewed the activity as illegal and thus, advised the first applicant to cancel it, failure of which would result in a disciplinary action. Despite several attempts to cancel the activity, it proceeded on the scheduled date. As a result, the university commenced disciplinary proceedings against the applicants relating to offences under the University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999 ('UM Rules'). The applicants were all found guilty by the disciplinary committee ('DC') and hence, they appealed to the appeals committee. However, the appeals committee dismissed the appeals and affirmed the verdict and sentences meted out by the DC. Hence, the application for judicial review wherein the main grounds raised were that there was non-compliance with rr. 53 and 54 of the UM Rules, which in turn caused the breach of the rules of natural justice.

Held (allowing application with no order as to costs):

- (1) There was no such requirement and/or obligation on the part of the DC, either under the Universities and University Colleges Act 1971 ('UCA') or the UM Rules to inform the applicants of their right to be represented by a lawyer. As a matter of law, there is no absolute right to legal representation in disciplinary proceeding cases. It is a discretionary power vested with the tribunal. (para 59)
- (2) The procedure envisaged under rr. 53 and 54 of the UM Rules are similar to the proceedings of a criminal case where the prosecution has to establish a prima facie case against the accused at the end of the prosecution case, and only if there is a prima facie case will the accused be called to enter defence. Upon compliance of the procedure under

- A r. 53, the DC should have decided whether there was a case to answer by the applicants before they were called to enter their defence. Only if there is a case to answer, the disciplinary proceedings can continue under r. 54. These crucial steps were not followed, resulting in a blatant disregard of the UM Rules. There was also no evidence to show that the
- B applicants were given the right to re-examine any of their witnesses, bearing in mind that the disciplinary proceeding was of a quasi-criminal nature. (paras 71-74)
- (3) The disciplinary proceeding, the decision-making and sentencing against the five applicants, involving 17 separate amended charges, lasted for more than 12 hours. This clearly showed that the entire proceeding was carried out in a hurry. Further, the burden of proof in the disciplinary action is beyond reasonable doubt and not on a balance of probabilities. The first respondent, in the affidavit in reply, did not state the standard of proof adopted in arriving at their decision, hence, resulting in procedural impropriety. (paras 77 & 78)
- C
- D
- (4) The proceedings before the DC had clearly breached rr. 53 and 54 of the UM Rules, thus resulting in procedural non-compliance which had denied fundamental rights to the applicants. The refusal to accord the right to know whether there was a case made out by University Malaya well before the applicants were called to put forward their case coupled with no right of cross-examination and/or re-examination undoubtedly amounted to a breach of the rules of natural justice. ## JUDGMENT

A

Mohd Yazid Mustafa J:*Background

[1] On 19 October 2014, first applicant, Yang Dipertua Majlis Perwakilan Pelajar Universiti Malaya, through his Facebook published an article titled “Pidato Umum, 40 Tahun dari Universiti Malaya ke Penjara” to be held at Dataran DTC Universiti Malaya, scheduled on 27 October 2014 involving Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim.

B

[2] A meeting was held on 20 October 2014, in the presence of Timbalan Naib Canselor (Hal Ehwal Pelajar dan Alumni) together with Timbalan Dekan Fakulti Sains Sosial dan Sastera and the first applicant. After the said meeting, Timbalan Naib Canselor Hal Ehwal Pelajar dan Alumni contacted and advised the first applicant to cancel the activity. If approval was not granted, disciplinary action may be taken on the first applicant if he continues with the said activity.

[3] On 23 October 2014, the university issued a show cause letter to the first applicant and required him to reply to the show cause letter latest by noon of 24 October 2014. The show cause letter was received by the first applicant on the same day.

E

[4] On 27 October 2014, the university issued a notice barring all students and traffic in and out of the university compound with the view to prevent participation in the said activity as the University Malaya viewed it as an illegal activity. Further, University Malaya had never received any application from any parties concerning the said activity.

F

[5] On 27 October 2014, an emergency meeting was chaired by the Naib Chancellor with the Director of Communication and Corporate Unit together with Director of Security for the purpose of handling the activity. As a result thereof, security was tightened on the traffic coming in and out of the University Malaya compound and staff were allowed to leave earlier, at 4pm. This was followed by a notice prohibiting the staff and the students from participating in the said activity.

G

[6] At 3.50pm, on the same date, there was a meeting held between the Naib Chancellor and the first applicant at the office of the Naib Chancellor which lasted for about 45 minutes, whereby the Naib Chancellor advised the first applicant to call off the said activity.

H

[7] On the very day at 7pm, the entrance to the University Malaya well known as the KL Gate was closed and chained, and only the PJ Gate was opened for traffic. The students from the campus started moving towards the KL Gate for the purpose of gathering for the said activity.

I

- A [8] As early as 8.25pm, on the same day, there were attempts by the participants of the gathering to enter into University Malaysia compound through the KL Gate, which was closed.
- [9] At about 9pm, there were several students demanding to enter the campus and at the material time, it is estimated about 100 participants had gathered outside the KL Gate.
- B [10] At about 9pm, the KL Gate was forced open and about 1,000 participants had entered the University Malaya.
- [11] At about 9.34pm, Datuk Seri Anwar Ibrahim, who was the main speaker arrived with his family outside the KL Gate together with some of the PKR leaders. Datuk Seri Anwar together with the participants entered through the KL Gate and headed to Dewan Tuanku Canselor. At 9.54pm, Datuk Seri Anwar arrived at Dewan Tuanku Canselor and delivered his speech. At about 10.38pm, Datuk Seri Anwar left the campus through the KL Gate and around 11pm, all the participants disbursed without any incident.
- C [12] As a result of the said activity, University Malaya took a disciplinary action against the applicants.
- D [13] Disciplinary proceeding was held on 9 December 2014 at Perdana 2 Meeting Room, Aras 2, Blok D, Kompleks Perdana Siswa Universiti Malaya. The student disciplinary committee was chaired by Professor Dr Zanariah Abdullah, Professor Khairulmaini Osman Salleh and Professor Dato Dr Mohd Supian Azirum.

B [49] The appeals were heard on 11 February 2015 and 12 February 2015, whereof the appeals committee dismissed all the appeals and affirmed the verdict and the sentences.

[50] On 11 May 2015, the applicants filed leave for judicial review.

The Findings Of The Court

C Application To Cross-Examine The Applicants

[51] Before the substantive application was heard, the respondents' counsel applied to court by way of encl. 30 to cross-examine the applicants and the application was allowed.

D [52] During the cross-examination proceedings, the applicants were referred to the relevant pages of the notes of evidence before the disciplinary committee purportedly to show that the facts which formed the basis of the judicial review proceeding were untrue.

E [53] I observe that the applicants were reluctant or refused to give incriminating answers, such answers as, "saya tidak mahu menjawab" or "saya memilih untuk tidak menjawab" or "I choose not to answer".

F [54] Notwithstanding that the answers given by the applicants during the cross-examination may be incriminating, nevertheless I find that the procedures adopted by the disciplinary committee in arriving at its decision is flawed and I will allude to my reasons below.

G [55] I would emphasise that it is trite that judicial review refers to the process of supervisory jurisdiction of this court over proceedings and decisions of a tribunal (disciplinary committee in this case); thus judicial review is directed not against the decision, but is confined to the examination of the decision-making process. (refer to Malaysian Civil Procedure 2013 p. 685).

[56] However, the respondents' counsel alleged that this application for judicial review is premised on the following grounds.

H (i) Legal requirement and/or obligation on the parts of the disciplinary committee to advice the applicants to get legal representation by a lawyer.

(ii) The unconstitutionality of the University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999.

I

(iii) The amended charges were ultra vires the University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999. A

(iv) The two internal meetings were not done in good faith.

(v) Procedural non-compliance of rr. 53, 54, 56 and 59 of the University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999. B

(vi) Breach of natural justice;

(vii) Injustice and prejudice suffered by the applicants.

[57] Although the applicants raised numerous issues, I find the main grounds are non-compliance to rr. 53 and 54 of University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999, which in turn caused breach of rules of natural justice. C

[58] On the first to fourth issues, I fully agree with the submission of the respondents' counsel that these are untenable grounds. D

Legal Representation By A Lawyer

[59] I find there was no such requirement and/or obligation on the part of disciplinary committee, either under the Universities and University Colleges Act 1971 ("UCA") or the University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999, to inform the applicants of their right to be represented by a lawyer. Further, as a matter of law, there is no absolute right to legal representation in disciplinary proceeding cases. It is a discretionary power vested with the tribunal. See case of Tan Sri Dato' Sri Panglima Hj Annuar Haji Musa v. Persatuan Bola Sepak Malaysia & Anor [2014] 2 CLJ 624; [2015] 2 MLJ 708. E F

[60] The above case established that the right of an accused person to legal representation in a disciplinary case is not absolute right. Instead, it is the discretionary power of the tribunal hearing the case whether to grant or not to grant a legal representation.

[61] Furthermore, the applicants in this case had never raised the issue of right to a representation of a lawyer during the disciplinary hearing. G

The Unconstitutionality of the University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999

[62] The applicants alleged that the University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999 are unconstitutional for purportedly being in breach of arts. 5, 10(1)(a) and/or 10(2)(a), 10(1)(b) and /or 10(2)(b) and 13 of the Federal Constitution. H

I

A [63] I find the allegation of the applicants is devoid of merit based on the following reasons. Firstly, the University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999 were expressly made pursuant to the UCA (its parent Act).

[64] Secondly, s. 16C(1) of the UCA 1971 provides:

B The Board shall have the power to make such disciplinary rules as it deems necessary or expedient to provide for the discipline of the students of the University; the disciplinary rules made under this subsection shall be published in the Gazette (emphasis added)

C [65] Thirdly, I agreed with the respondents counsels' submission that the applicants are not challenging the constitutionality of UCA 1971. The applicants, through their counsel, had orally confirmed during the hearing of encl. 33 on 9 March 2016 that they are not challenging the constitutionality of UCA 1971. In any case, the applicants are prevented from doing so as leave of the Federal Court has not been obtained pursuant to arts. 4(3), (4) and 128 of the Federal Constitution. Indeed, in the recent Federal Court case of State Government of Negeri Sembilan & Ors v. Muhammad Juzaili Mohd Khamis & Ors [2015] 8 CLJ 975; [2015] 6 MLJ 736

D (a) It was held that the validity or constitutionality of the laws could not be questioned by way of collateral attack in a judicial review proceeding. Such a challenge could only be made by way of the specific procedure as provided for in art. 4(3) and (4) of the Federal Constitution.

E

Procedural Non-Compliance Of rr. 53 And 54 Of University of Malaya (Discipline Of Students) Rules 1999

F [66] Rule 53 provides:

53(1) If the student pleads that he is not guilty of the disciplinary offence or fails or refused to plead or does not admit the facts of the case, The disciplinary authority shall examine any witness or any documents or other article in support of the case against the student; the student shall be invited to question such witness and inspect such document or article, and the disciplinary authority may re-examine such witness

G

(2) For the purpose of Sub rule (1), the witness shall be summoned to give evidence at the hearing by the Vice-Chancellor

[67] Rule 54 also provide:

H Student's Evidence

54. After the evidence referred to in rule 53 has been received, and the disciplinary authority finds that there is a case to answer, the student shall be invited to give his evidence, call any witness or produce any document or other article in his defence; the disciplinary authority may question the student or any his witnesses and inspect any such document or article, and the student may re-examine any of his witnesses

I

[68] Rule 53 provides that when a student does not plead guilty, firstly, the disciplinary committee must direct the complainant, in this case the University Malaya to produce its witnesses and evidence and shall accord the fundamental right to the applicants as the accused to cross-examine the complainant's witnesses and to examine any documents supporting the case against the applicants (students).

A

[69] Further, r. 53(2) stipulates that for the purpose of sub-r. (1), the witness shall be summoned to give evidence at the hearing by the Vice-Chancellor. It is plain and obvious that any witnesses for the respondents being the complainant can only be summoned by the Vice-Chancellor and there is no evidence before this court that r. 53(2) has been complied with.

[70] Whereas, r. 54 states that the disciplinary authority first must find that there is a case to answer, only then the student shall be invited to give his evidence and or call any witness or produce any document.

D

[71] However, in this case there is no iota of evidence to support the compliance to rr. 53 and 54, University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999 by the disciplinary committee on the conduct of the proceedings against the applicants. This ground alone undoubtedly establishes procedural non-compliance.

E

[72] Upon the procedure under r. 53 is complied, the disciplinary committee should have decided whether there is a case to answer by the said applicants before calling the applicants to enter their defence. Only if there is a case to answer, the disciplinary proceedings can continue under r. 54. These crucial steps were not followed, thus blatant disregard to the University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999.

F

[73] To add salt to injury, there is also no shred of evidence to show that the applicants were given the right to re-examine any of their witnesses. One must bear in mind that the disciplinary proceeding in this case is of quasi-criminal in nature.

G

[74] The procedure envisaged under rr. 53 and 54 are similar with the proceedings of criminal case where the prosecution has to establish a prima facie case against the accused at the end of the prosecution's case, and only if there is a prima facie case, the accused will be called to enter defence.

H

[75] The respondents deliberate noncompliance to its Rules is corroborated by Dr Norhayati being one of the members of the disciplinary committee in her affidavit in reply affirmed on 13 August 2015, that '... Jawatankuasa sekarang ini bukan melihat tentang prosedur ... that is not important to us. What is important to us, it is the evidence that is brought forward based on this buku ... itu sahaja ...'.

I

A [76] Based on the above finding and admission, it is plain that the procedure stipulated under rr. 53 and 54 were not followed at all. To my mind, the whole proceedings adopted by the respondents in this case is high-handed.

Procedural Impropriety

B [77] Further, I find that the disciplinary proceedings started at 9.02am and lasted until 10pm followed by decisions and sentencing. The proceedings only took one day and the time taken from the commencement of the disciplinary proceedings until the decision and sentencing was about just 12 hours bearing in mind it involved five applicants (accused) comprising
C 17 separate amended charges clearly shows that the entire proceedings were carried in a hurry, thus justice hurried is justice denied.

D [78] The burden of proof in the disciplinary action is beyond reasonable doubt and not on the balance of probabilities. I find the first respondent in their affidavit in reply did not state the standard proof adopted in arriving at their decisions. This also a cause of procedural impropriety.

E [79] The respondents' counsel in his written submission stated that although rr. 53 and 54 were not strictly complied with, it was merely a matter of procedure, which is directory in nature, would not give an aggrieved person a right to redress in a court of law and the paramount importance is that the principle of natural justice has been fully complied by the disciplinary committee. Furthermore, the disciplinary committee, being domestic disciplinary proceedings was not subject to strict rule of law. The form or substance of the disciplinary committee proceedings must be looked
F at as a whole before it could be said that there was a denial of natural justice.

G [80] I disagreed with the respondents' submission on this issue. Firstly, it lies in the respondents' written submission that rr. 53 and 54 were not complied with. Secondly, the first respondent's affidavit admitted that these rules were not important. On the other hand, the University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999 were set up by the respondents but the respondents unilaterally elected not to comply.

Breach Of Rules Of Natural Justice

H [81] When the first respondent failed to adhere to their own Rules, the proceedings caused injustice and/or prejudice to the applicants thus renders breach of rules of natural justice inter alia denied the applicants the right to be heard.

I

[82] In Suraya Amdah v. Ketua Setiausaha Kementerian Kesihatan Malaysia & Anor [2015] 7 CLJ 403; [2016] 7 MLJ 781 at p. 411 (CLJ); p. 790 (MLJ), it was held:

The case established the proposition that whenever in the exercise of a power a decision is taken by the administration which affects the legal rights of an individual to his detriment, the rules of natural justice must be observed by the decision maker. The fact that the statute is silent as regards procedures to be followed is immaterial. The case also held that the requirement to adhere to the dictates of natural justice arises by implication from the nature of the power conferred. The immediate result was that now bodies exercising quasi-judicial functions were bound to adhere to the rules of natural justice even where they were primarily exercising administrative functions.

[83] The above case has decided that even if a statute is silent as regards to procedures to be followed is immaterial, what more in this case where there is a codified written rule specifically governing the procedural requirement yet it was not followed. If this is not a breach of natural justice, then what else could be?

[84] The principle of natural justice has been emphasis in B Surinder Singh Kanda v. The Government of the Federation of Malaya [1962] 1 LNS 14; [1962] 1 MLJ 169 at pp. 172 and 173:

If the right to be heard is to be a real right which is worth anything, it must carry with it a right in the accused man to know the case which is made against him. He must know what evidence has been given and what statements have been made affecting him: and then he must be given a fair opportunity to correct or contradict them. This appears in all the cases from the celebrated judgment of Lord Loreburn, L.C. in Board of Education v. Rice [1911] AC 179, 182; 27 TLR 378 down to the decision of their Lordships' Board in Ceylon University v. Fernando [1960] 1 WLR 223; [1960] 1 All ER 631 PC.

[85] Following the principles alluded to in the above case, it is apparent in the present case that the applicants have the right to be heard and which is a real right, it carries with it a right to know the case which is made against applicants. The applicants must know what evidence has been given and what statements have been made affecting them: and then they must be given a fair opportunity to correct or contradict them. All of this was bypassed and denied by the first respondent.

[86] For the foregoing grounds, it is my findings that the proceedings before the disciplinary committee had clearly breached rr. 53 and 54 of University of Malaya (Discipline of Students) Rules 1999, thus have caused procedural non-compliance which caused denial of fundamental rights of the applicants.

- A Further, the refusal to accord the right to know whether there is case made out by the University Malaya (complainant) well before the applicants were called to put forward their case coupled with no right of cross-examination and or re-examination undoubtedly amounts to breach of rules of natural justice, thus clearly warrants this court to allow this application with no order as to costs.
